

MS Method Selection Guide

This diagram may help in selecting the right ionization method for analysis of a sample by MS.

Often, there are several reasonable choices and it is advisable to make the best use possible of what is available at your local facility.

MS results also depend on user input. Discuss your options with the MS staff at your facility.

